

PRIVACY POLICY

Concentric Media makes every effort to protect the privacy of our donors, website users, mailing-list members, and staff.

As a website user, you can choose how much information to provide when you make a donation, send feedback, or join the Company's mailing list.

We do not sell, rent, trade, or disclose personal data. We also do not retain or save any credit card information.

Our mailing list includes members' names, email addresses, ZIP codes, and other information that you choose to provide to us. We do not share our mailing list with outside organizations.

We may occasionally use your email address to contact you about Concentric Media's activities, related issues, and special announcements. You can remove yourself from future mailings by clicking the "unsubscribe" link in any email message from Concentric Media, or by contacting:

Concentric Media
P.O. Box 1414
Menlo Park, CA 94026
(650)568-4340
info@concentric.org

When making an online donation, you will be asked to enter PayPal or credit card billing information. When you submit this information, it is transmitted over the Internet to a secure server. The transmission is encrypted using Secure Socket Layer (SSL), one of the safest known ways of transmitting data. After completing the transaction, we do not store or keep Credit card information anywhere in our records.

We reserve the right to share your submitted personal information with legal authorities if required to do so by law (such as by a subpoena or court order), or if we judge that such information sharing is necessary to investigate, prevent, or respond to suspected fraud, threats, or potential harm.

We may change our privacy policy as we deem necessary. We encourage users to reread this policy periodically. We will post updated versions on this web page.

Users' already-submitted information will not be used without your consent under any change of policy.

Policy Last Updated: August 2012

To improve our website's functioning and to help you complete transactions, we collect and temporarily store information about your computer and visit. We store this information in "cookies" (small text files), which expire after you close your browser.

The collected information includes your computer's Internet domain and Internet Protocol (IP) address. (The IP address is a numerical address assigned by your Internet service provider, and is separate from your email address.)

This information also includes your computer's name, operating-system version, and specifications. The cookie might also track the Internet address of the website you last visited, the date and time of your visit, the pages you viewed, and how long you spent on our site.

None of this information about your computer personally identifies you. We do not share any of this information with outside parties.